

ANNOUNCING

We are on track to have our on-demand REHS Exam Review cloud course live by mid-December!

Even though it is an on-demand course, you will need our workbook to follow along and to yellow highlight the concepts that you still need to master.

If you want to start preparing now, you should order our workbook now! We will start shipping right after Thanksgiving weekend with our new 33rd Edition v3 designed to mirror our course.

The course cost is $490.00 + $13.00 workbook shipping. With the workbook you will receive our list of recommended self-study courses (almost all of those are FREE!). If you order your workbook now, we will credit the cost of the workbook $199.00 (not the shipping) towards your course enrollment. That would leave a balance of $291.00 to enroll in the online course when it is available in December.

Course delivery mechanics:

Our first release in December will be these 3 of 15 chapters. It will be the first of several rolling releases in December.

Our Precious Water (potable water, wells, rivers, lakes)

Recreational Water Illnesses (pools, spas, beaches)

Private On-Site Wastewater (septic tanks, human wastes subsurface absorption fields)

Others will follow soon after. Your enrollment will entitle you to access all 15 chapters for 3 months. That should give you more than enough time to digest the material. Then you should take the exam!!!

Even after your enrollment expires...your book will not expire! You will still have all the printed material in your hand that you need to pass the exam.

Your registration period of 3 months is based on the day you enroll, no matter what day or month!

Enroll now. Registration is limited to the first 100 candidates.

You should complete your application for the exam to your State or NEHA at about the same time that you enroll in our course. It can take more than three months to get approval to sit for the exam.